Capability Brown: and His Landscape Gardens Sarah Rutherford

One of the most remarkable men of the 18th century, Lancelot 'Capability' Brown was known to many as 'The Omnipotent Magician' who could transform unpromising countryside into beautiful parks that seemed to be only the work of nature. His list of clients included half the House of Lords, six Prime Ministers and even royalty. Although his fame has dimmed, we still enjoy many of his works today at National Trust properties such as Croome Park, Petworth, Berrington, Stowe, Wimpole, Blenheim Palace, Highclere Castle (location of the ITV series Downton Abbey) and many more.

In Capability Brown, author and garden historian Sarah Rutherford tells his triumphant story, uncovers his aims and reveals why he was so successful. Illustrated throughout with colour photographs of contemporary sites, historical paintings and garden plans, this is an accessible book for anyone who wants to know more about the man who changed the face of the nation and created a landscape style which for many of us defines the English countryside.

Matthew Russell:

As a scholar exactly feel bored to be able to reading. If their teacher asked them to go to the library or make summary for some publication, they are complained. Just very little students that has reading's soul or real their leisure activity. They just do what the trainer want, like asked to go to the library. They go to right now there but nothing reading significantly. Any students feel that looking at is not important, boring as well as can't see colorful photographs on there. Yeah, it is to be complicated. Book is very important for yourself. As we know that on this era, many ways to get whatever we wish. Likewise word says, ways to reach Chinese's country. Therefore , this Capability Brown: and His Landscape Gardens can make you sense more interested to read.
